The Mennonites of the World
A Statistical Survey

By John C. Wenger

BEFORE THE OUTBREAK of World War II it was possible to gather data on all the Mennonites of the world, except those in Russia, by using three yearbooks. The Dutch Doopsgezind Jaarboekje was published by L. Hansma, Assen, The Netherlands, and edited by S. H. N. Gorter, Mennonite minister of Rotterdam's 1204 Mennonites (1939). This Dutch yearbook gives data on the Mennonites of the Netherlands, Java, and Sumatra. The German Christlicher Gemeinde Kalender was published by the Conference of the South German Mennonites and the Conference of the East German Mennonite Congregations. In 1939 the editor was A. Braun of Ibersheim in Rhenish Hesse. The Kalender was printed by Heinrich Schneider, Karl Street 28, Karlsruhe, Germany. This German yearbook furnished data on the Mennonite congregations of Danzig, East and West Prussia; the North and West German congregations in Berlin, East Frisia, Schleswig Holstein, Westphalia, and the Rhineland; the south German congregations in the Palatinate, Hesse, Baden, Wurttemburg, and Bavaria; as well as the congregations in Poland, Luxembourg, France, and Switzerland. The American Mennonite Yearbook and Directory, published by Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, and edited by Ellrose D. Zook, gives data on the several Mennonite bodies of the United States, Canada, and Mexico, and a bit on their missions in India, China, Africa, Argentina, Alaska, and the Philippines.

The data for this present article is based chiefly on the 1939 Jaarboekje, the 1939 Gemeinde-Kalender, the research of J. Winfield Fretz on the Mexican Mennonites, and the statistics gathered by Ellrose D. Zook for the 1945 Yearbook, and certain data on the Brazilian and Paraguayan (Russian) Mennonite colonies furnished also by J. Winfield Fretz of Akron, Pa.

It will be noted that at the present time it is not possible to publish anything like a complete set of statistics for 1945 on the Mennonites of Europe and Asia. We are not yet in a position to know how the war has affected the church life of our co-religionists in Europe. We know least of all of Russian Mennonitism. The present article is, therefore, intended to give prewar statistics on the European Mennonites and up-to-date statistics on the Mennonites of the Americas.

1. Russia. It is not known how many Mennonite believers remain in Russia. In 1925 the authoritative Mennonite historian of Frankfurt a. M., Germany, Christian Hege, estimated that the Mennonite population of European Russia amounted to 80,000 souls, with an additional 30,000 in Siberia, and 1,500 in Turkestan. The area with the largest number of Mennonites was the Ukraine in South Russia; Hege estimated the total for the Ukraine at 60,000 souls. At the last Russian Mennonite Conference held in 1926, however, it was reported that only 46,829 Mennonites (souls) remained in the Ukraine. (Numbers given as "souls" mean, "including unbaptized children.") It is to be feared that by 1945 the organized church life of Russian Mennonitism is practically completely broken up.

2. Germany. The 1939 German yearbook often gives both "number of souls" and number of "unbaptized children" for a given congregation. The unbaptized often constitute around a fourth of the total. After estimating and deducting the unbaptized, the following membership totals are given in round numbers: East Germany and Danzig, 7,000; North and West Germany (Berlin, East Frisia, Schleswig Holstein, Westphalia, Crefeld, etc.), 1,600; the Palatinate and Hesse, 1,900; Baden, 600; Wurttemberg, 200; Bavaria, 600. Total baptized membership in Germany, about 12,000.

3. Poland. The three Mennonite settlements of Poland were at one time respectively Prussian, Russian, and Austrian territory. The baptized membership now totals about 1,400.

4. Luxembourg. In 1935 ten Amish Mennonite families with about 50 members were living in this tiny country of 300,000 inhabitants. The Luxembourg Amish meet for services in the homes of the members. The preachers' names in 1939 were Nafziger, Oesch, and Hotel.

5. France. The Mennonites of France are all descendants of Bernese Amish Mennonites who settled there many years ago. The congregations are members of a French Mennonite Conference which meets semiannually. The Mennonites in Alsace and Lorraine are German-speaking, and number about 1,000 souls (1936). The other Mennonites of France are French-speaking and have their own conference sessions alone, in addition to participating in the Mennonite Conference of France. The membership of all the congregations in France, both German- and French-speaking, amounted to about 2,100 in 1939.

6. Switzerland. The Mennonites of Switzerland today number only about 1,000, although the figure is about 1,500 souls when unbaptized children are counted. (In 1916 the seven congregations of Canton Bern had 1,545 souls, of which 873 were baptized members. On the other hand, the Mennonites of North America which are of Swiss descent total more than 95,000).

7. Holland. The Dutch Jaarboekje gives an accurate list of all Mennonite congregations in the Netherlands. For each congregation the number of lay members is given and the number of catechumens. In 1939 the totals were as follows: Members 44,000, and catechumens, 8.000. Total, about 52.000, although the catechumens were not yet baptized.

8. Java. The Dutch Mennonites, with Russian Mennonite support historically, operate missions on Java and Sumatra. The Jaarboekje gives no membership figures for Sumatra, but for Java the 1939 totals were as follows: Members, 2,100; catechumens, 500.

9. United States and Canada. The Mennonite congregations of North America are affiliated with various independent conferences or with no conference at all. Following are the chief bodies with their total memberships including foreign missions:

(1)	Mennonite Church	59,754
(2)	Conservative Amish Mennonites	3,988
(3)	Old Order Mennonites	4,660
(4)	Old Order Amish Mennonites	13,408
(5)	Church of God in Christ Mennonites	3,700
(6)	Defenseless Mennonite Conference of North America	1,700
(7)	Central Conference of Mennonites	3,212
(8)	Mennonite Brethren Church of N.A.	16,978
(9)	Krimmer Mennonite Brueder Gemeinde	1,641
(10)	Kleine Gemeinde	1,464
(11)	Evangelical Mennonite Brethren	2,000
(12)	General Conference of the Mennonite Church of N. A.	47,478
(13)	Mennonite Brethren in Christ	12,800
(14)	Reformed Mennonite Church	1,200
(15)	Hutterian Brethren	6,005
(16)	Unaffiliated Russian Mennonites In Manitoba	13,409
(17)	Weaver and Stauffer congregations, Pa.	242
	Total	193,639

The foreign missions of the first group (the Mennonite Church) have the following memberships: Africa, 201; South America, 615; and India, 1,398. This total of 2,214 members, together with the foreign memberships of any other Mennonite groups would have to be deducted in arriving at the correct figure for the number of Mennonites in United States and Canada. The figure would probably be about 190,000 baptized members.

10. Mexico. Following is the composition of the various Mennonite groups in Mexico, according to the census of Winfield Fretz. All numbers are of souls, not baptized members.

Old Colony Mennonites (from Canada)	11,698
Sommerfelder Mennonites (from Canada)	600
Church of God in Christ, Mennonites (from U.S.A.)	65
General Conference Mennonites (from Russia)	50
Old Order Amish and Old Order Mennonites	36
	12.449

An estimate of the number of baptized members would be 9,000.

11. Paraguay. The Mennonites of Paraguay are settled mainly in three large and two small colonies. All figures are of souls.

Fernheim (1943)	1,820
Friesland (1943)	830
Menno (1943)	2,356
Horqueta (estimate)	125
Asuncion (estimate)	25
Scattered Mennonites (estimate)	200
	5,356

The baptized membership would probably total about 4,000 members.

11. Brazil. The most recent figures available on the Mennonites of Brazil are those of A. E. Janzen. He states that there are 360 Mennonite families in Brazil, comprising 1,500 souls. The baptized membership would therefore be about one thousand.

13. Summary of Mennonite Statistics (baptized members):

Russia
Germany	12,000
Poland	1,400
Luxembourg	50
France	2,100
Switzerland	1,000
Holland	44,000
Java	2,100
U.S. and Canada	190,000
Mexico	9,000
Paraguay	4,000
Brazil	1,000

The total membership of all Mennonite churches the world over, including several thousand mission converts, would be about 270,000. Unbaptized children would perhaps raise the figure to 400,000 souls, excluding Russia. Were Russia included the souls might reach some such figure as a half million, though the number of baptized Mennonites in Russia today is known only to God.

Mennonite General Conference

By Allen H. Erb, Moderator

THE MENNONITE GENERAL CONFERENCE meets every other year in the odd-numbered years. The constitution permits the calling of special sessions. The first special session in the history of the conference was called during the even year 1944. This meeting was held in August at Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana. It was a delegate session. A very good representation of delegates was present. The cause for the special session of the General Conference was to furnish a consideration of a report of the General Problems Committee presented at the regular session of the 1943 conference.

The program was arranged around the general theme, "Gentile Libertinism or Jewish Legalism." The outline for the first theme was found in the Book of I Corinthians; for the second theme, the Book of Galatians. The speakers took their outline and discussion from these books. The thinking and discussion were thus Biblically centered.

A motto for the conference was, "We Would See Jesus." It was urged that every step or movement would be assured a rightful place in our meeting only if it would display and reveal Jesus. This served as a holy challenge in all our counsels.

Prayer was given emphasis by the designation of a room as a special prayer room. Special sessions of prayer were held in this room. Besides the special sessions, a spirit of prayer in each personal life was maintained.

As has always been the case in all the history of God's people, God honored His Word and answered His people's prayers. He showered upon us a spirit of penitence, supplication, and grace. Great grace was upon us; His Word was magnified; and His righteousness and glory were maintained in the church. A spirit of truth, unity, fellowship, and love prevailed. The historic position of the church on nonconformity was reaffirmed.

This conference also took steps toward the organization of Mennonite Mutual Aid. It appears that this move will be the beginning of a decided forward step in organizing the spirit and action of brotherly love and aid in the church. It would seem that this organization will give formal expression to a spirit which has long been advocated among us.

The next General Conference will be held at the regular constitutional date—the last week in August. It shall again be confined to the attendance of delegates and ministers. This seems to be the only wise policy for the duration. The regular large public session of conference would present not only the problem of transportation, but the problem of entertainment, and the food problem especially would be acute. At some future time when normal peace conditions prevail, it may be possible to arrange again for a large public and open session.

The general committees under General Conference are functioning in a normal way. At the special session no report was asked of these committees. Their work will be revealed in the regular session of conference which is yet future. These are momentous days. We need to hear the command, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith. quit you like men, be strong."

Looking into the New Year

By S. C. Yoder, President
Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

AT THE MOMENT of this writing we are on the threshold of Christmas when, as a rule, the people throughout a great part of the world partake of the spirit of the season and many hearts are moved to dispense joy and happiness even though so comparatively few have accepted Christianity as a faith or a way of life. This year, however, closes with a gloom that makes anything like the usual Christmas spirit impossible and many, many people will be denied the comforts and joy that usually overtake them at this season.

The present situation however reaches beyond mere personal wishes and desires. It brings into the forefront of all our thinking, needs both spiritual and physical, that are appalling and urgent and which affect both the evangelizing and relief agencies of our church.

In the field of relief there are now in operation in India and the Middle East, Mennonite units to bring aid to the needy, in the spirit of Christ whose heart was moved with compassion as He saw the hungry, suffering multitudes while He was here on earth. Earlier the Mennonite Relief Committee had hoped to have a similar unit in China by the close of the year. However, the spread of the war in that country makes it impossible to enter now or to predict how soon this venture may be undertaken. Meanwhile these workers which the committee had hoped to use in China are being used in distributing food and clothing in the Bengal famine area in India.

The mission situation has cleared up a little but is still far from satisfactory. The great problem now is not only that of passports and permits, though these are not by any means easy to secure, but also the problem of transportation. During the past summer Brother and Sister Beare were able to go to India where Brother Beare is at present connected with the relief work in Bengal and Sister Beare is at Dhamtari assisting in mission work. Sister Lena Graber, a trained nurse, is now on the way to India where she will no doubt be gladly received and where she will find a needy place. It is some years since we have had an American trained nurse at the hospital. J. N. Kaufman and wife and Edwin Weaver and family have their permits and passports and are awaiting transportation.

In Argentina the situation is unchanged. Political conditions are uncertain, and agitation against evangelical missions by the state church has not abated. It is very difficult to get new missionaries to the field now. How soon this will change no one can say.

There are, however, encouraging notes in the situation. The new work among the Chaco Indians is progressing and people are responsive beyond anything the missionaries dared to hope for when the work was first undertaken. Argentine Christians are consecrating themselves to the work of the Lord, and in the past year several churches were taken over by them when missionaries came home on furlough. The enrollment in the Bible School has increased, and those who are in attendance are looking forward to work in the church. Several new church buildings were acquired or constructed the past year. Money was forwarded for the establishment of a Health Unit and the Argentine people are earnestly praying for the day when the new Bible School building can be built.

Missionaries who have been on the field are returning for furloughs. Some of them have not been away from their work for ten years. Very few of them return at the time when their furloughs are due. William Hallman and family returned from Argentina the past summer. Ezra Hershberger, S. Jay Hostettler, S. M. King and their families, and Mrs. Esch came home from India within the past year. The Litwillers, Rutts, and Brennemans from Argentina are planning to return early the coming year.

This depletion of our forces on the field creates a serious problem and a vicious situation. The fewer missionaries there are on the field the heavier their load will become and the more heavily they are loaded the more necessary it will be for them to retire for a period of rest such as their furlough provides, and yet the less possible it will be. Therefore it is urgent that recruits be sent forth as early and rapidly as possible. Before the year is over the Board hopes to be able to get permission to send numbers of others to both India and Argentina.

On the home field changes have taken place. J. D. Graber, who was elected Secretary at the last annual meeting, has set up an office in Elkhart and is devoting full time to the affairs of the Mission Board. The committee appointed to locate the new hospital has decided upon Elkhart as the most suitable location. It is now working on plans for raising the money and is in consultation with architects for preliminary plans for the building. Plans have been drawn for remodeling the old part of the Children's Home in Kansas City. The Executive Committee is also looking forward to building a new church for the Mexican people in Chicago.

In spite of depressing political conditions throughout the world, reports from our missions at home and abroad are encouraging. Souls are reclaimed and churches are growing. It seems that in the centuries past the church has made its best growth in periods such as these. In fact it has its roots deep in a barren soil. "As a root out of dry ground" is the prophet's description of the beginning of Christianity. Who knows but that in its native habitat, that of hardship, it will again bear its choicest fruit. We face the future with confidence in God and the power of His Word. Human plans may fail, nation may fall and powers that seem invincible may come to naught, but His Word will not pass away and they that trust in Him will not be left without hope.

Mennonite Civilian Public Service in 1944 and the Work of the Peace Problems Committee

By H. S. Bender, Chairman, Peace Problems Committee

A. The Work of the Peace Problems Committee

The year 1944 seemed for a time to promise peace as the result of an allied victory in Europe, but closed with a much darker outlook. Earlier in the year the prospect of partial demobilization suggested that the peak load of C.P.S. had been reached and that the burden of administering and financing the large C.P.S. program would gradually decrease. The close of the year, however, found the load still increasing with no prospect of favorable change for months to come. The darker war picture also increased the pressure for enactment of a permanent military training program for the country. The work of the Peace Problems Committee during the year was largely controlled by these two factors.

The experience of the year 1944 proved that the church was capable of carrying the full load of C.P.S. expenditures at fifty cents per member per month throughout the year and adding to it the cost of a C.P.S. dependency aid program which had mounted to a levy of nearly fifty cents per member per quarter or one third of C.P.S. budget. (C.P.S. Dependency Aid was taken over by the Relief Committee beginning April 1, 1944, at the request of the Peace Problems Committee.) The work of the Pastoral Ministry Subcommittee which plans to visit all camps and personally contact every member in C.P.S. at least twice per year, using its five bishop members for this purpose, was also increased considerably. The prospect of postwar permanent military training made the work of the C.P.S. Policy Subcommittee more urgent. Consequently the whole committee at its November 3, 1944, meeting at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, drew up a statement of policy to guide those who shall represent the church at the time of congressional hearings in Washington. It was the mind of the committee that while we are opposed to conscription because of its evils and dangers, we should not refuse alternative service under civilian direction, and should be willing to assume a postwar C.P.S. program under certain conditions. G. F. Hershberger's book, War, Peace, and Nonresistance, originally sponsored and financed by the committee and published by the Mennonite Publishing House in November 1944, was an outstanding contribution to Mennonite literature in this field.

A very disturbing aspect of the year's experience was the fact that an increasing number of eighteen-year-old draftees were accepting military service. Exact statistics were not available, but apparently the percentage in many congregations was more than half, and increasing. This is a situation which calls for the most serious consideration since it points to a partial breakdown in the program of the church. The committee is accordingly studying this problem and hopes to present recommendations for a more effective program of teaching our youth from the ages of fourteen to eighteen, together with a provision of literature suited to this age group.

B. The C.P.S. Program for 1944

I. Administration. As in previous years the C.P.S. program continued to be administered by the Mennonite Central Committee on behalf of all the Mennonite branches of the United States, with no substantial changes in policy. In Canada a radical change was made in the program with the dissolution of most of the Alternative Service Camps and the assignment of C.O.s to agricultural and industrial service under a contract whereby a portion of the wages is paid to the Red Cross for nonwar purposes. A new feature was the establishment of a C.P.S. camp unit on a farm near Lincoln, Nebraska, under the administration of the Peace Problems Committee. The farm was made available by the Mennonite Publication Board, and thirty-five men were released to this unit by the M.C.C. for the purpose of establishing a farm and community school in connection with a soil conservation project. This action was taken in response to the 1943 General Conference policy recommendation; the camp was established about Oct. 1, 1944.

The total C.P.S. camp staff consists of approximately one hundred persons, thirty of whom are women. Of the seventy men all but two are assignees. Headquarters staff includes seventeen persons, fourteen men (of whom ten are assignees), and three women.

II. Finances. The total cost of C.P.S. operations under the M.C.C. (Dec. 1, 1943 to Dec. 1, 1944) was $638,117.82 compared to $706,699.72 for 1943. The cost per man month in base camps was $25.07, in special projects $4.53. The income for the year was $741,407.37 compared to $736.206.36 for 1943. The year closed with an accumulated balance of $145,304.94, a reserve of less than three months' operating expenses. Of the year's contribution, gifts in kind (canned fruit and vegetables) were valued at $40,885.68, and nonquota and non-Mennonite donations for maintenance totaled $55,180.38. Quota contributions from our own branch were $298,-059.18 plus gifts in kind valued at $25,013.39, total $323,072.57. Total cash quota contributions from our branch from the beginning of C.P.S. are $830,245.96. The following comparative table shows all cash quota contributions to C.P.S. from the beginning of the program in 1941.

A considerable number of men have been discharged from C.P.S. for various reasons. Since the beginning this total has reached 814. Of this number 45 per cent or 366 were discharged for physical disability; 30 per cent or 244 transferred to the army; 25 per cent or 204 were discharged for all other reasons such as dependency, occupational, over 38, death, etc.

IV. Religious and Educational Program. During the past year earnest endeavors were again made to strengthen the religious and educational program. An increasing number of ministers served appointments in the camps, and several branches made special efforts to serve their men. The educational program was marked by the development of special schools such as farm and community schools, relief training schools, Christian workers schools, and a school for psychiatry and Christian service. For these schools interested men were gathered at certain camps, and special instructors were provided, although the men still did full work in the C.P.S. project at the same time.

V. C.P.S. Rehabilitation. The increasing number of men discharged, and the prospective postwar demobilization, led to the development of more concrete plans to aid men to return to normal life after the war. C.P.S. rehabilitation is the responsibility of each branch for its own men and in our case this responsibility has been assigned to the new General Conference organization called "Mennonite Mutual Aid", which is now in process of organization.

Mennonite Relief Work in 1944

By Irvin B. Horst, Publicity Manager

THE CONTINUATION of World War II through 1944 increased the suffering and distress of mankind in many parts of the world. Consequently, the effort to bring succor to fellow men was increased as the Lord led. Continued assistance was given to fellow Mennonites in Paraguay, and plans were formed to investigate the plight of brethren in Germany, Russia, and other countries in Europe. Very little may have been done in terms of meeting the total need of war sufferers, but we believe the Lord has called us to serve Him, in our own manner, in this time of international distress and to give a testimony to the way of Christ to all men everywhere.

In the early part of 1944 a Mennonite Central Committee office was opened in Kitchener, Ontario. This move was made to serve better the Canadian constituent groups in their desire to contribute funds and clothing to the relief program. A relief-clothing processing center was also set up in connection with this office. Cornelius Rempel was appointed to assume charge of the office, and Clara Snider was later appointed to be in charge of the clothing collection center.

With evidence of opportunity to bring relief assistance to the peoples of France, Holland, and other areas in Europe, a plea was sent to the churches to contribute larger amounts of relief clothing. An additional processing center was opened at Newton, Kans., to serve better the congregations west of the Mississippi River. Elma Esau began the work at Newton, and upon her appointment for relief service in Europe was succeeded by Selma Linscheid. Mrs. M. C. Lehman was relieved of her charge at the Akron clothing center to assume the direction of the overall relief clothing program. Anna Snyder succeeded Sister Lehman as supervisor of the Akron center.

Europe

In England, relief efforts on behalf of war victims were continued. Glen Miller was sent in the spring to assume directorship of relief activities in this area. He arranged for further development of the London Center which in addition to distributing relief clothing is now also a hostel for homeless children. John Coffman and Henry Buller assist Brother Miller at the center. Early in 1945 Glen Miller will return to the States and S. J. Goering will succeed him as director. Taxal Edge, the home for convalescent boys from Birmingham and Manchester, is in charge of Peter and Freda Dyck. Vernon Toews, as cook, and John Thut as educational director, were sent during the past year to help with this project. Three nurses, Edna Hunsperger, Mabel Cressman, and Ellen Harder work in hostels for evacuated children and old people.

Upon the opening of areas for relief service in Central Europe, many of the workers will be shifted to the continent. At the time of this writing negotations are in progress to have several workers enter France and Holland. Thirty-five tons of relief clothing have been sent for distribution in these areas. No doubt, Central Europe in the year ahead, will receive a large share of Mennonite relief effort.

Middle East

The Middle East during the past year became an area of service for Mennonite relief when thousands of refugees from Greece, Poland, and Yugoslavia came into Egypt, Palestine, and Syria. Sixteen Mennonite relief workers have been commissioned and sent to work in refugee camps in Egypt. All of these workers are temporarily serving under contract with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which has direct charge of the operation of the refugee camps in this area. Our workers are serving mostly in the El Shatt and Tolumbat camps for Yugoslav refugees as nurses, dietitians, recreational and educational supervisors. Delvin Kirchhofer and Dr. G. Richard Yoder, who were the original Mennonite workers in this area, are serving as welfare director and medical doctor respectively. In July of this past year, J. N. Byler was sent into the Middle East as a relief commissioner to survey the field and to co-ordinate the work of the various Mennonite appointees.

Far East

In the Far East, relief was brought through the Mennonite Relief Committee in India to famine sufferers in the Bengal region. The work was begun in the summer of 1943 by the Mennonite missionaries in India. F. J. Isaac and George Beare were sent later to take charge of the project. The famine was grievous, and many thousands died in the vicinity of Calcutta. Our workers spent most of their efforts distributing food during the critical time of the famine which covered the period, November 1943 to April 1944. A hospital and work camp for rehabilitation have also been established. Three additional workers have arrived in India recently to assist with the relief program in Bengal. While present famine conditions to some extent have been relieved, there are indications that additional need is developing.

In May of the past year S. J. Goering in company with J. D. Graber returned from their trip to investigate the relief situation in China. They reported grave need and some opportunity for service and recommended that a small unit be sent to the province of Honan. Further development of the war in China changed these plans and the added problems of entrance, transportation, and inflation of currency have stalled any relief effort at this time. A number of relief workers for China were appointed during the past year and are traveling at least as far as Calcutta to be ready to enter as the door opens. Two former missionaries to China, S. F. Pannabecker and P. P. Baltzer, have begun to return to China to intiate the relief program, and at the time of this writing they have gone as far as the Middle East where they are temporarily assisting in the refugee camps. Lawrence Burkholder and Clayton Beyler, under appointment for China by the Mennonite Relief Committee are temporarily serving in the Bengal region of India. Titus Lehman has also been appointed by the M.R.C. to serve in China as the way opens.

Paraguay

The M.C.C. continues to keep in close touch with the Mennonite colonists in the Chaco. Most of the assistance given them during the past year was largely of a professional nature. Dr. and Sister G. S. Klassen have returned after extracting hundreds of teeth for the colonists and meeting their various dental needs. They were able to train several dentistry apprentices before they left Paraguay. Sister Klassen gave demonstrations in food preparation. During the year Mrs. Vernon Schmidt joined her husband at the Fernheim Colony where he continues with the road-building project. Sister Schmidt serves in the hospital. During the past year Brother and Sister Willard Smith were appointed as relief workers to Paraguay. They have taken up quarters in Asuncion from where Brother Smith is directing the relief program in Paraguay. They are also in charge of the Mennonite center in Asuncion. Orie Miller visited this work in August as a basis for future planning for relief work there. Plans have been made to send at least a score of workers to assist the colonists and also to initiate a rehabilitation project among the native Paraguayans. Robert Geigley has been surveying the possibilities of a supplementary feeding project. Orval Myers was sent as an electrical engineer and Elvin Souder as an assistant in the center in Asuncion. Waldo Hiebert and wife have been appointed to serve on the faculty of the Bible school at Fernheim Colony. Dr. A. M. Lohrentz has also been appointed to go to the Chaco for a year as medical doctor. Elizabeth Keeney has been commissioned to serve as a nutritionist in the supplementary feeding program.

Puerto Rico

The Puerto Rico Unit personnel stationed at La Plata was completed during the past year with forty persons. The work at this place is a Civilian Public Service project supplemented with relief workers and relief funds. Twenty-four of the personnel are C.P S. men. During the past year the C.P.S. men completed the building of a 25-bed hospital. This hospital has received the interest and support of local officials and has been able to meet a real need in the community. Dr. Delbert Preheim is in charge of the medical program with Dr. H. Clair Amstutz and Dr. G. D. Troyer assisting. A dentist, Earl Stover, has also been sent to the island to carry out a dental program parallel to the medical program. Five nurses and a dental hygienist have been sent to assist in the medical program. An educational and recreational program has been organized at La Plata and at several outlying towns. This part of the program provides training in health, agriculture, and homemaking. Two schoolteachers have been sent to serve as instructors in local schools. A health and physical fitness program has been organized and is in charge of one of the nurses.

Relief expenditures from October 1, 1943, to September 20, 1944, totaled $175,728.01. For the program in the Middle East, $41,-175.74 was sent; for England, $33,608.71; for Puerto Rico, $29.769.12; for Paraguay, $27,925.12; for India, $23.874.10; for France, $11,322.24; for China, $3,756.00; for Switzerland, Greece, Argentina, and Brazil, $4,-296.98. These figures include clothing sent to relief areas, which is evaluated at approximately $1.00 per pound.

The War Sufferers' Relief program is an expression on the part of Mennonites in America to bring help to many who are in need during the present war and suffering. It began in 1939 with the sending of Brother M. C. Lehman to Poland. At the present time more than seventy relief workers are serving in various parts of the world. Throughout these years the constituent groups have cheerfully co-operated in supporting the program. With continued prayer, financial support, and the consecration of workers, the witness of the Christian spirit of love and peace to all mankind will be continued.

The Mennonite Board of Education, 1944

By D. A. Yoder, President

TOO OFTEN as we think of the Mennonite Board of Education, we take a very limited view of it. We forget to look at its beginnings and fail to view the path through which it has come. Its beginnings were more than fifty years ago and it has followed a long hard road between then and now. The beginnings were brought about because a few men looked ahead and saw a need in the Mennonite Church which could be met only in schools under the direction and control of the church. These men launched out in faith, and after several years the Mennonite Board of Education was organized, composed of members appointed by the several conferences under General Conference by General Conference, and several by the Board itself. This body has church-wide representatives and should be able to sense the wishes of the church.

Too often we think of the Board's work as only educational, but it also has the larger view, which has to do with the spiritual. State schools are well prepared to care for the educational needs, but that seems to be the primary purpose, and the spiritual needs are neglected. The state has plenty of money and can provide the facilities needed for her program. Recognizing this fact, the church has responded nobly and is giving her support for the furtherance of the work. True, we need finances, but we need young men and women more. We trust that our young people will be coming to our own schools to receive their higher education not only under Christian influences but under the influences of the Mennonite Church. Other church schools decidedly try to instill the ideals of the church into the minds and lives of the students. Should we do any less? No, but we should have a church emphasis in our program so as not to defeat the very purposes which have given rise to our being.

During the last several years we have been wondering at times whether the enrollment in the schools would be anywhere near the enrollment of previous years, but even with the large number of men being called into service, the number of students has not decreased much. More come to take up the last years of their high school and more enroll in the Bible department of the colleges. The colleges are attempting to meet these demands by enlarging the courses and giving more attention to the individual needs of the students. Goshen College has attempted to meet the need by the Board's electing Carl Kreider as Dean of the Liberal Arts College and H. S. Bender as Dean of the Bible Department of the College. We trust that this change will help in meeting the need of the young people in preparation for service in the Church.

Observation of the religious life of students shows that they represent a cross section of the church. There are those who are deeply religious and those otherwise. Students generally can find what they are looking for, if they look for the worst, they can find it, and if they look for the best, they can find it. Much depends on the frame of mind in which they come, the determination of purpose, and their religious experience. A train ride does not materially change the individual. It is up to us as a church to help in preparation for college life. We dare not be satisfied with the material preparation but must concern ourselves also in the spiritual preparation. May God help us in this part of our work.

It is gratifying to note the interest of the schools in extension work of the church, establishing Sunday schools in neglected districts which have led to the establishment of Mennonite churches, supplying needed help in the surrounding pulpits, preaching in such public institutions as jails and infirmaries, besides providing many other opportunities in meeting the churches in general and giving programs. These opportunities in giving living testimony help both themselves and others. May those not in the schools be used in providing opportunities for service and giving a loyal support to the same.

Some of the needs of our colleges are: students, teachers, buildings, and continued support. I have placed students first. Without students we need no teachers and without both students and teachers we need no buildings. We need support of the church expressed in prayers—prayers which come from a heart filled with the love of God and a deep concern for youth—and in a concern which is expressed in a great love, a sincere counsel, a loyal guidance, and a continued interest. The homes can and must do much to make the life of a student the kind of life the Lord can use. If I were to express the need in a single word, that word would be YOU. If the Lord gets you, we need not fear about the rest. He will get your prayers for His work, your moral support, and when He has you, you will also give of the money He has entrusted to you.

Some of the present needs on the campuses are buildings and equipment. Goshen needs a heating plant, for which the money has been provided, and a new Auditorium-Gymnasium. Hesston needs dormitory room. The appeal has gone out to the churches and the responses are very gratifying. May the Lord help every member of the Mennonite Church to realize that this is not the work of just a few but that it is the church's work and we all need to support it.

There is much to do. Let us go on and do it in the fear of the Lord. We speak of investments. Someone has said, "Investment in young people is the best and surest to bring returns." We may not see the returns in dollars and cents but we see them in service, manhood and womanhood, and a loyalty to Christ and His church. Invest some of your money in youth, and we are sure that it will bring results. We have the promise and the One who promised never fails. Bank stocks, railroad stocks, oil stocks, and other things may fail, but that which we invest in men and women, doing it in the name of the Lord, will not fail in bringing returns. God help us to invest wisely.

The road may be long and hard and the Board has not yet reached its ideal. The Master bids us be faithful; let us strive on knowing that if we faithfully do His bidding, we shall win if we fail not. The Lord help us to be true and faithful to Him and to His church until He comes.

Our Publishing Work

By Simon Gingerich
President, Publication Board

AS WE LOOK BACK over the years of a half century of organized publishing interest in the church, note the untiring efforts of our brethren who labored faithfully in launching this work, see how they coped with the obstacles which confronted them, and now behold the almost unanimous support of our constituency and the properous condition of our publishing interests, we are made to declare, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us."

Our institution has again enjoyed a prosperous and well-supported biennium. The financial status is such that enabled the Board to make a $10,000 donation to the various organized interests of the Church. In addition to this another $8,000 were invested in a farm ten miles northwest of Lincoln, Nebraska, and leased to the Peace Problems Committee of the Mennonite Church, rent free, to be used for a unit of C.P.S. Thus practically every avenue of Christian service of the church has benefited by the liberal patronage of the Publishing House and its branch bookstores.

The Publishing Committee's recommendations for the republication of Menno Simons' Complete Works; the publication of a second edition of God and War, by J. Irvin Lehman; the preparation and publication of a biography of the Brother Daniel Kauffman; a comprehensive work on the Doctrine of Nonconformity; and the publication of Lucy Winchester, by Chirstmas Carol Kauffman, in book form, were all acted upon favorably by the Board. Recent publications authorized by this committee are: Under the Southern Cross, by the South American missionaries; Down South America Way, by S. C. Yoder; Christian Nurture of Children, by Alta Mae Erb: Peace, War, and Nonresistance, by Guy F. Hershberger; and Mennonite Church Music, by J. Mark Stauffer. Other publications have been authorized but have as yet not been fully prepared. Among these are a Junior Hymnal, a book on Heresies, and Volume II on Mennonite History.

A new publication that has been launched by the House is called Program Builder, which is issued semiannually and takes the place of the annual Topics Booklet. It contains much more material for use by young people's Bible meeting workers than the Topics Booklet.

Considerable work has been done on the revision of the Summer Bible School courses, and it is hoped that these will be ready for use in 1946. The new courses will provide material for a two weeks' school and will be improved in many ways.

The nursery and kindergarten Sunday-school lessons that have been in course of preparation for a number of years are being pushed as rapidly as time and circumstances permit. They also are scheduled to be ready for use in 1946, but restrictions in the use of paper and the labor shortage may delay either of the above projects.

The tract work has been going on encouragingly even though we have been without a regular tract editor for a few years. This is one of our present needs.

Among the newer members of the staff of the Publishing House are Brother Paul Erb, editor of the Gospel Herald, and Brother Monroe Wyse, treasurer. Both are rendering acceptable service.

It is hoped that a steady increase of Mennonite publications by Mennonite authors may continue. If it does, this will mean added work for the Publishing Committee. Under the present arrangement the work has been somewhat cumbersome. The Board has granted the appointment of a committee of three brethren to make a study of the constitution and bring recommendations for revision to the Board at its next meeting. I believe it to be the sentiment of both the Publishing and Executive committees of the Board that changes should be made so as to facilitate the work of the Board and its committees without robbing the constitution of its safeguards.

As the service of the Publishing House is being more and more utilized by the constituency, it is becoming evident that we need to be thinking about more and better equipment as well as more room. The Board has authorized the Executive Committees of the House and Board to proceed with the building expansion program to provide adequately for the work.

As we visualize the future possibilities of this phase of Christian work and service, we see nothing but a large expanse of possibilities and opportunities lying before us. This work challenges our best and ablest talents constantly. Perhaps the time has come when more attention should be given to full-time service of brethren and sisters who are qualified to write and produce literature that will preserve the historic and Scriptural principles of the church and that will magnify and exemplify the way of life as divinely planned for the children of God.

To every one connected with this great work, directly or indirectly—workers in the House, officers, editors, board members, and patrons—I want to extend my hearty appreciation for what you have done to make this work a success, and may we unitedly pray that the Lord may continue to direct this work as is pleasing to Him.

Mennonite Commission for Christian Education and Young People's Work

By John R. Mumaw, Field Secretary

THE COMMISSION has enjoyed another year of progress in a full program of work. We have been conscious of the Lord's leading and of His blessing in many areas of activity. We appreciate the growing support of the Commission in its assignment of work and are indeed grateful to our constituency for their many contributions through prayers and giving.

Sunday Schools

While other denominations are suffering considerable decrease in their Sunday-school attendance, we have enjoyed a slight increase. It is gratifying to know that the corps of workers now engaged in the work of the Sunday school are keeping up their courage and faith in this great work.

The Commission is sending out to superintendents in the Mennonite Church a "Kit of Tools" to help them to greater efficiency in their work. This Kit includes a booklet that is designed to enable the superintendent to understand better the nature of his task. It includes other items being distributed in the interests of better teaching work in our local congregations.

We are grateful for the co-operation which the district secretaries and superintendents have given in sending in reports. We are anxious, however, that in the future our reports will be more accurate than they have been in the past. We believe these statistics can be used to considerable advantage in the study of trends and of possible improvements in the work that is assigned to the Sunday school.

Young People's Bible Meeting

Considerable time and energy have been spent in the revision of the Young People's Bible Meeting Topics Booklet. This has been set up in a 96-page publication to appear semiannually under the title Program Builder. This booklet now includes suggestions for the leader and for the program committee as well as a gist of the topic for all who are associated in any way with the program. We continue to carry the Outline Study and the Suggestive Assignments as in the former topics booklet. We have added also a list of questions that are intended to serve as study questions in the preparation of the topics. With each topic we have provided an alternate program which is intended to provide greater variety in the kind of meetings that can be sponsored by the Young People's Bible Meeting Committee. It is the hope of the Commission that through this additional effort in helping our young people to usable materials their meetings will be enriched by a deeper study of the Bible.

Junior Bible Meetings

Program Builder has a department which is devoted to the junior Bible meeting. This carries suggestions for biweekly programs for the juniors. It provides suggestive materials which have been written for the leaders and the program committee. This also offers suggestions on methods of procedure in administering the program and lists source materials from which the committee and the persons on the program can draw their materials. The Commission feels that this booklet is meeting a long-felt need among many congregations where there has been a desire to sponsor separate meetings for the juniors.

Summer Bible School

The Curriculum Committee is carrying forward the project it has undertaken in supervising the revision of our summer Bible school manuals. This is a laborious task and involves a great deal of time from writers and from counsellors who are endeavoring to produce the best that is possible to be given to our church. Due to paper limitations and to other factors that have delayed the preparation and production of this material, we are compelled to wait another year for the revised manuals. Manuscript is being prepared, however, and the work is well under way.

Week-day Bible School

The secretary of week-day Bible schools reports an increase in this type of teaching in our church. According to the number of inquiries about the conduct of such Bible schools, we believe that the growing interest will give additional demand for the printing and publication of manuals to serve the teachers of our constituency who are engaged in this kind of work. The most popular type of week-day Bible school is that which is carried along with the midweek meeting of the local congregation, having teachers for each class while the adults and young people are having their Bible classes and Christian Worker's Training Class at the same time.

Christian Worker's Training

With the publication and distribution of the revised Christian Worker's Training pamphlet, we believe that a renewed interest will be stimulated in this type of meeting. We continue to encourage our congregational leaders, particularly the pastor, to assume responsibility in developing interest in this type of study. The organization of Christian Worker's Training classes can be undertaken in the local congregation by any responsible leader in co-operation with his pastor.

Missionary Education

The bulletins for spring and fall have been produced with the expectation that they will inspire conviction for missionary endeavors. During this past year there has been a change of personnel with J. D. Graber taking over the work that was formerly carried on by E. C. Bender. Brother Graber now serves as a promoter of missionary education through mission study classes, missionary projects, missionary investments, missionary savings, and the publication of missionary literature.

Young People's Activities

The secretary of young peoples activities reports a growing interest in providing guidance for the youth of the church. There is increased interest in a type of meeting that can be conducted in the local congregations over week ends, or a longer period of time, known as Young People's Conference. Special attention is given in such conferences to guidance for our young people in matters pertaining to the social life. Maintaining purity in courtship and marriage is becoming an increasingly greater challenge to the leaders of the church. We must provide our youth with sane and sympathetic counsel, which will enable them to overcome the impact of the world influence having a telling and demoralizing effect on many young people. It is the hope of the Commission that many pastors and leaders in our congregations who have a particular responsibility toward the young people will plan for such conferences and engage speakers who can enter sympathetically into the problems of youth.

Home Interests

The Commission has felt for some time the need for stronger promotion of Bible reading and worship in the home. Statistics available to us indicate there is a great laxity in this area of our church life. There are entirely too many homes that have no regular periods of worship in their daily family schedule. The secretary of home interests is concerned with the promotion of more Bible reading and more worship in the homes of our church. During the past year the secretaryship has been transferred from Chester K. Lehman to George R. Brunk. Brother Brunk is entering enthusiastically into his task and hopes to provide stimulating materials that will help our people to build more spiritual homes.

Boys' Activities

During the past year, the Boys Activities Committee has released a booklet entitled Boys and Their Leaders. This booklet is intended to furnish leaders of boys with materials and suggestions that will enable them to carry on activities with the junior boys in a thoroughly Christian manner. During the past year the Laurelville Mennonite Camp, Laurelville, Pennsylvania, sponsored a boys' camp. The committee had opportunity to offer suggestions in planning and arranging the program and has made observations of results. The strong interest in patronizing this camp indicates a great opportunity which lies before the church in providing guidance for recreational activities that will at the same time give to our boys a spiritual outlook.

Commission Handbook

This annual publication continues to serve the Commission as an official organ in bringing to our constituency the items of promotional interest pertaining to the teaching work of the church. It continues to carry an interest in the field of library promotion and conference work. Any reader who has not secured a copy is welcome to write to the Publishing House for a free copy.

Official Meetings

The Commission meets semiannually with fewer sessions in the spring than in the fall. The plan is to have the spring meeting of the Commission at a time and place convenient to attend the meeting of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. In the fall of 1944 we enjoyed the entertainment of the Ontario brethren through the executive committee of the Mennonite Sunday School Conference and the officers of the Amish Mennonite Sunday School Conference. We had at this meeting representatives from all the district Sunday-school conferences of the church excepting two. It was a most profitable meeting with an inspiring fellowship. It was particularly helpful to the Commission to have these district officers express their viewpoints and convictions regarding the teaching work of the church. Such meetings have enabled the Commission to sense more accurately the needs and policies of our general church constituency.

Bible Study

The major emphasis for 1945 is being carried along with the slogan, "Youth Studies the Bible." During this year we have envisioned the possibility of stimulating greater interest in the study of God's Word. We believe that in times like these there is great need for a movement back to the Bible. It is our conviction that nothing will help to stabilize the church in the midst of social maladjustments, political fears, and religious apostasy as will a return to systematic study of the Word of God. We urge all our church leaders to give definite attention to this form of spiritual experience.

Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

By Mahlon M. Hess

TO GLORIFY CHRIST, for whom and through whom the work was done, and to challenge ourselves to more faithful efforts in extending His kingdom, we undertake a review of the activities of the past year. At this point we feel to record our appreciation for the tireless and faithful efforts of John W. Weaver, who passed to his eternal reward on February 18, 1944. Brother Weaver was an organizer of the Weaverland Missions Committee whose work was later absorbed by our present organization. When this board was organized in 1915, Bro. Weaver was a charter member and served in an active capacity until 1941. He served as field worker until 1935, and was used of God in opening many of our present stations.

We are glad to report that another of our stations has grown up. The mission at Meckville, which for some time has carried its own financial obligations, and has had both a minister and a deacon, has now been organized as a self-sustaining congregation. This is our goal for all our stations.

Personnel

There are now in the service of the board twenty-four full-time and a large group of part-time workers. There have been a number of calls and changes throughout the year. At Columbia, Frank Garman was ordained assistant pastor and Benjamin Zimmerman assistant deacon. A pastor was provided for the Welsh Mountain Mission for Colored; the superintendent, Ira J. Buckwalter, was called. For health reasons, Frank Stoltzfus relinquished the superintendency of the Coatesville Mission; he is succeeded by Kenneth Smoker. At Norris Square, Philadelphia, Clarence and Lela Fretz are back on duty after a leave for other church work. The leave of Paul and Alice Sauder from Tampa was extended and George and Anna Brunk continue to serve there. Dora Taylor is on sick leave, and Elizabeth Denlinger is filling her place at Ybor City. Because of her health, Martha Mosemann found it necessary to leave the Washington Suburban Mission. A pastor-superintendent is needed at both the Philadelphia and the Reading missions for colored. Steps are in progress to fill these vacancies.

Buildings

Late in 1943 the Neversink Street home of the Reading Mission for colored was damaged beyond repair by fire. This work has been relocated on 347 South Seventh Street. This better location and the improved quarters should prove an ideal base for the enlargement of this witness. Considerable investigation has been done to find a location for establishing a witness to the colored in Steelton. To date this has not been found. There is need for enlargement of the Ybor City station in Tampa, Florida. A separate church building and better quarters for the workers are needed. There is definite need for a kindergarten because many of our Sunday-school children are being taught by the Catholic kindergartens and are warned with threats not to attend our services.

Extension

The Itinerant Evangelism Committee is leading out in our present extension efforts. They have located and done some work in prospective fields in Florida and southern Alabama. Earl and Alta Mosemann spent six months early in the year on these fields. During the summer a group spent two months there conducting Bible schools and evangelistic meetings. On June 7, John R. Lehman was ordained as an itinerant minister. On November 15 he and his wife took up their duties on the field. It is very likely that shortly our Board will be called upon to place permanent workers in this field.

Jewish Evangelization

There has been encouraging growth in the efforts among God's chosen people. Our workers, Martin Z. Miller and Abner Stoltzfus, have been doing considerable personal work both locally and in Harrisburg and Philadelphia. The committee directing the Jewish witness has been continuing to send out good-will letters, "The Messianic Testimony," to Jews. The monthly promotional meeting at Vine Street, Lancaster, is continuing; in addition a class for part-time workers has been organized and meets regularly before the public meeting. Recently Isaac Baer and wife were appointed full-time Jewish workers. This coming spring they expect to move to Harrisburg where they will begin their witness.

Relief Testimony

Our relief testimony is given by sharing in the work of the Mennonite Central Committee. A total of $27,000 was contributed besides amounts designated for particular fields. Our sewing circles sponsored a drive for clothing in co-operation with the Clothing Depot of the Mennonite Central Committee. They reached their goal and trebled the amount gathered last year. This year over eight tons of clothing and $2,761.77 were contributed.

Africa

At present there are on the field seventeen adults and eleven children; three adults and four children have begun their furlough trip home; six missionaries are under appointment of whom two are on the way to the field. On August 27 the Leatherman family and Phebe Yoder left the field to go to Capetown and then to continue homeward via Buenos Aires; at this writing they have been long delayed in Capetown. On September 18 Clinton and Maybell Ferster were appointed for their second term of service; on November 25 they sailed from Philadelphia to go to the field via Lisbon and Cairo. Levi and Mary Hurst, formerly of Oyster Point, Virginia, were appointed as new missionaries and will proceed to the field as soon as the necessary permits are forthcoming. James and Ruth Shank will not be able to go to the field until Brother Shank is released from Civilian Public Service. During the year the board took steps to provide a school for missionaries' children in Africa. A committee with counterparts in Africa and America is planning the curriculum and selecting textbooks. The finding and appointment of a sister teacher for this school has been authorized. The third missionary couple needed on the field has not yet been found. On the field definite efforts are being made to master the vernacular languages; translation work is being advanced. The missionaries are devoting more time to prayer and active evangelism. While we thank the Father for enabling those on the field, most of whose furloughs are long overdue, let us humbly seek His will so that He can lead out in the sending of reinforcements to the field.

Finances

The work of the Board has been well supported. Total contributions for the year reached $228,093.15. This is as it should be. At the present time more dollars are needed to accomplish the same work as formerly. Further, we are likely at the door of the largest missionary opportunity that has ever faced our church. May our Lord find us diligent in our ambassador duties when He comes.

Eastern Mennonite School

By John L. Stauffer, President

DUE TO the regulations of Selective Service, it has become necessary for Eastern Mennonite School to conduct a summer school in Bible for the benefit of the young brethren of draft age who are deferred for theological studies. The ruling of Selective Service required the theological students to accelerate their program the same as those who are in military training at the various schools and colleges. The summer session, being a last minute consideration, was attended, with one exception, by young men of draft age. Although the enrollment was small the school was a success.

At the time of the 1944 commencement the dormitory rooms in the main dormitory as well as the outside dormitory were spoken for with additional names on the waiting list. This brought the administration face to face with the reality of an increased enrollment exceeding our present dormitory facilities.

The fall registration found Eastern Mennonite School with a record enrollment of regular students. Fifteen states and one Canadian province have contributed to this large enrollment of 349 students. The prospects for the Special Bible Term enrollment at this writing are likewise quite promising and may be one of our record enrollments as far as numbers are concerned. An increased student body means increased teaching loads for our faculty as well as an increase in opportunities and responsibilities.

The enlarged facilities of the past few years were adequate to provide for the enrollment at the time, but this rapid increase and the possible influx of men after the war makes us aware that our present facilities are going to be inadequate to handle the situation in the near future. At present the dormitories are overcrowded. The dining room is too small. While the student body has trebled, we are using the same kitchen, laundry, and dish-washing room. Just now the library and the chapel-auditorium are the only two facilities that are not crowded. In the light of the above situation, the Board of Trustees is making plans to gather the funds necessary for the erection of a dormitory that will accommodate at least 150 students. This building when erected will also provide adequate dining hall, laundry, and kitchen space to care for at least five hundred students. The Board plans to begin this building as soon as permits can be obtained and materials become available. The Board is indeed grateful to all who have so loyally supported the school in the past and solicit continued support on behalf of Mennonite youth.

The porch at the entrance of the chapel has been completed. The necessary walks have been made around the chapel and between buildings. A concrete walk has been placed on College Avenue extending south from the front campus several hundred yards.

The teaching force remains the same as last year with one addition, Sister Margaret Martin, Maugansville, Maryland, who is a part-time assistant. She helps in the department of physical education and assists in the biology laboratory. Some teachers are still carrying overloads, but thus far the administration has not found suitable teachers to give the needed relief.

Brother John R. Mumaw was the evangelist for the fall evangelistic meetings. Under the blessing of the Lord, the Word was preached effectively and the Spirit moved upon the hearts of many to consecrate themselves more completely to our Lord. Others confessed Christ for the first time. Some who were church members, but who lacked a definite Christian experience, learned to know the Lord. For these spiritual blessings we thank the Lord.

Brother Nelson E. Kauffman, Hannibal, Missouri, is scheduled to conduct the winter evangelistic meetings. The faculty and the students are anticipating the coming meetings and are looking to the Lord for His blessing to be manifested among us.

The religious activities of the student body continue to serve the church in various ways. A number of Gospel teams have gone out to mission stations, both city and rural. One team visited the rural work in the Kentucky mountains where a number of alumni of the school are working. The local work in the county jail, in the almshouses, in the prison camp, in cottage meetings, in the white and colored missions in Harrisonburg, in rural work in the Blue Ridge Mountains, in the distribution of The Way, and in other activities continue as in the past. In all of these efforts and activities, souls are encouraged and some find the Lord. The students in their religious activities are seeking to honor God and to bless the souls of men. We have seen God's blessing attending these efforts.

It is the sentiment and desire of both faculty and students that we need the continued intercession of many friends and supporters of Eastern Mennonite School. As an institution we exist and function to make a contribution to the Mennonite Church through her youth.

Lancaster Mennonite School

By Noah G. Good, Dean

THIS YEAR finds Lancaster Mennonite School with two classes having been graduated. The third group of first-year students has entered our classrooms. In another year the first group of pupils will complete school here who have taken all four years of high school work at this place. The pupils and teachers of even so young a school make the acquaintance of many persons from many places whom it will be pleasant to meet in future years all over the country.

The 1944-45 term began with an enrollment of 146. There were at the beginning of the year 31 seniors, 32 juniors, 45 sophomores, and 38 freshmen. Of these 146 students, 74 were enrolled as boarding students, and 72 as day students. Of the 74 boarding students, only six do not go home over week-ends. All these figures are as of the beginning of the year and have not changed much at the time of this writing which is near the end of the first semester. In the Special Bible School for six weeks of January and February, there are 35 pupils enrolled in the day school, and over 220 in the evening school. Two sessions of week-end classes for those who cannot attend regular day or evening classes have been very well attended. Special classes for ministers have enjoyed enthusiastic support. We are praising the Lord for many blessings during the past year in this work.

During the year it has been possible to grow in a number of directions in the work of the school. A comparison with enrollment figures of the previous years shows a little dropping off. This is largely due to the opening of several Christian day schools which offer first and second-year high school work. We appreciate this additional effort which makes it possible for more pupils to be attending church-controlled high schools, even if our number has dropped a little. We experienced growth in the addition of more Bible courses, the enlarging of the library by the addition of many books, and the building of new and larger quarters for the commercial classes.

The commercial classes are making use of the additional room and facilities by handling mailing lists of a number of church organizations. In addition to being a real service to the Church, it gives the students an acquaintance with the work of the Church which they would not have otherwise. It also gives to their work in class a sense of usefulness that adds interest. We appreciate the fact that through this work our pupils have had a rather intimate acquaintance with the African News Letter, with C.P.S. relationships, and with a number of less regular correspondence activities of the Church and this school.

At the present time not nearly all of the boys and girls of high school age who go to high school are attending a church-controlled school. With present facilities it would not be possible to take care of them all, should they want to come. Many persons who have a concern for this cause and for the future stability of the Mennonite Church are eager that every child who goes to high school shall want to attend school under proper religious environment, and that they shall have the opportunity to do so even if they cannot carry the financial burden themselves. Problems which many of our families face with reference to their children attending public high school in time of an all-out war effort may increase to the extent of forcing such a decision, but the result would be a far happier one if the decision to attend a church-controlled school could come out of a conviction for more spirituality rather than from the force of circumstances that are unbearable. The long effort to adjust to the demands of a worldly educational system has in many cases done irreparable damage to our Church's interests.

This school stands now, like others in the past have stood or are now standing, at the crossroads where several conflicting currents of thought meet. The one line of thought tends in the direction of less rigid regulation of the individual by the Church with the inevitable result that the body of the Church will become more worldly; the other line of thought tends in the direction of a strong control by the Church of individual activities and interests with the purpose of protecting the interests of the Church and places a high premium on being formally aloof from all worldliness. It becomes steadily more and more apparent that these two lines of thought will never meet. The church school of today cannot compromise these two lines of thought; to try to do so defines failure. The school that bids heavily for enrollment will not likely take any very definite stand on strongly contested church problems, and the school that takes a definite stand on the support of the Church in a conservative discipline will do so with the obvious prospect of small numbers until the crisis of cross currents of thought is passed. This school is interested in making a strong appeal to the young people who should be attending its classes by offering them every possible advantage of a fully rounded out high school program. When it comes to present day liberal attitudes within the Church, this school is definitely committed to the support of the principles and doctrines of the Church by which it has been established.

Lancaster Mennonite School offers a fully accredited high school course. This includes four years of English, four years of mathematics, four years of science, four years of social studies, and four years of Latin. Pupils have a choice of two years of German instead of Latin or in addition to it. Pupils interested in commercial work can take two years each of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping. Some Bible subject is required each year. Two full years of Bible study is offered for those who desire that. Three music courses are largely attended, and a special course in chorister training for pupils with ability and inclination in this direction is offered.

Our present enrollment consists mostly of pupils from the Lancaster Conference district. We are happy to have among us also pupils from several other areas—some from out of the state. There is increasing interest evident from more remote areas and such interest is highly welcomed. Inquiries from prospective students have come on several occasions from beyond the Mississippi River. Such interests are often the outcome of having relatives living in this community. Although Lancaster Mennonite School is careful not to solicit students from areas outside its planned constituency, we do welcome prospective pupils from any area who may have an interest in knowing more about this school or in attending to write to us or visit the school. We solicit your prayer interest for this work.

Service in the Home Church

By Harry A. Diener

WE VERY MUCH appreciate having missionaries come to visit us in our local churches, missionaries who have spent terms of service in India, China, or Africa. We feel that they have accomplished some great task, and we thank the Lord for these faithful, consecrated people who are willing to make many great sacrifices for souls lost in sin, without God and without hope. We say, "Surely those people have a wonderful opportunity." May we continue to say so and to pray the Lord's blessing on the work that they are faithfully doing.

Many of our young men and women as they realize the great need in the world are very willing to give their service in relief work. God bless them for their convictions and may the way be opened soon so that more may give their service in the name of Christ for suffering humanity.

Then we have our church work nearer home, the Publishing House, church schools, charitable institutions, city missions, rural missions. May God bless them all and the workers in these institutions.

Sometimes one may be tempted to wish that the Lord had found him a place in some of the institutional work of the Church. But is not a local church in a rural community a church institution? Perhaps we have been looking so far away that we fail to see the opportunities near to us.

Where did these people receive their first Christian instruction? Where were they brought to a saving knowledge of Christ? Where did they receive their first experience in teaching the Word of God? Where were their gifts developed so that they could be used in a larger service? We all know the

Bishop Jonas Snider

By C. F. Derstine

Bishop Jonas Snider

BISHOP JONAS SNIDER, Waterloo, Ont., was a servant of Christ and the church. He filled a place of tremendous importance for many years, as a transitional bishop. That is, he served the period between the early pioneers of Waterloo County, and the present established churches of our times. His grandfather, Jacob C. Snider, was a pioneer from the state of Pennsylvania, and his father, Elias Snider, was a minister in the Mennonite Church. He was born near Waterloo, Ont., Oct. 2, 1853, and died at his home in Waterloo, Sept. 6, 1944.

Bro. Snider was converted in 1885, when a wonderful revival in Mennonite circles was experienced. Evangelistic services were not held in churches; the Gospel was preached by the Brethren Noah Stauffer, Solomon Gehman, and others in private homes. Many were converted and became pillars of the church. both among the ministry and laity. The effect of this work of grace is still evident among the churches. The fruit did remain. There was no question about the reality or the soundness of his conversion. This "Damascus Road" experience was always real to our brother, and permeated all his life, ministry, and service.

There was never any question about his orthodoxy. He was a conservative—never a liberal,—nor an ultraconservative. He was dogmatic—but not "bulldogmatic." He was firm, but resilient. Every message he preached rang true to the "Book." He knew how to walk on the narrow road. He was no Pharisee—who would add to the Scriptures. Nevertheless, he was no Sadducee—who would subtract from their pages. His messages were not only scriptural; they were clear, warm, and full.

Some loyal defenders of the Bible never learn to march with the times. They never learn to understand the people among whom they live. Since they know that truth never changes, they feel that all other changes are worldly and unscriptural. They never learn to know the meaning of Paul's counsel to the church for all times: "I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some." This was the secret of the mighty ministry of Paul. He had an inflexible Gospel, but he was flexible. To the Jew—he became a Jew, to the Gentile,—a Gentile, to the Barbarian,—a Barbarian. He never stooped to their crimes, wrongs, vices, and excesses, but adapted himself to their personalities, with one chief objective—not to be a man pleaser, but a winner of the souls of men.

Bro. Snider changed from the German to the English language. He was an early Sunday-school worker, working in homes when that institution was unacceptable among many church men. He was interested in evangelism when other good men opposed such efforts. He labored faithfully, progressively, while many other equally good men were opposed to changed methods of working. He constantly supported all the interests of the church. He was a progressive worker.

For his day, he was a widely traveled minister of the Gospel. The modes of travel were slow, yet his itinerary took him to Bothwell, near Detroit; Port Allen, Port Elgin, Hanover, Rainham, South Cayuga, Wallace, Zurich, Clarence Center, N.Y., and elsewhere. He was bishop of quite a number of churches. He baptized more than six hundred persons, and married some two hundred forty-two couples. All this made for close friendship and fellowship in ever-widening circles. He was eighty-five years of age at the time of his death.

Bishop Snider was congenial—truly gentle and gracious. He knew how to live and work with other men, which is indeed a masterful accomplishment. In his ministry there are no trails of controversies with men. He was never thinskinned. He knew how to differ with men graciously. He knew how to take abuse without retaliation. He was no mere "yes" man. He had his convictions, but he allowed the other man the same privilege.

The writer became Bro. Snider's associate bishop some twenty years ago. During the time we labored together, although there were multitudes of problems, there was not one instance of unpleasant controversy. Our relations were so happy that, although he retired from active service, no major matter was attended to without bringing it to his attention, for his word of counsel. His counsels were weighty and worth while.

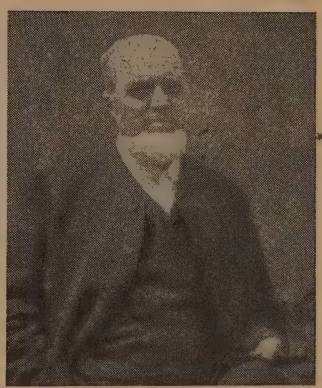
The closing contacts at his bedside before his homegoing were precious; words are no adequate vehicle to convey them to others. Ripe and ready, he waited the "chariots." For him it was not sundown—but sunrise in glory. Farewell—until we meet our mutual Lord. He will be remembered for many years. His footprints on the sands of time will remain. Truly, "he . . . served his own generation by the will of God, [and] fell on sleep." Sleep on—until the morning.

Jacob C. Frey

By Amanda Frey

JACOB C. FREY, youngest son of Christian and Elizabeth (Conrad) Frey was born near Pettisville, Fulton County, Ohio, Sept. 12, 1865. He died Aug. 18, 1944 at his home in Archbold, Ohio. His passing marks the end of a family, as well as the end of a generation of co-workers in the ministry of his home church. The realization of this fact seemed to instil into his later life a definite sense of responsibility. Due to a critical heart condition he was much handicapped the last four years, yet he was reluctant to lay down his labors completely, always being intensely interested in the present and future welfare of the church of his choice, both locally and worldwide.



Jacob C. Frey

As a young father he was always keenly interested in the affairs of the community, and especially in the local schools, which he realized had a potent influence on the character of the child and youth and through them it also had an influence on the future church. Recognizing the great problems and temptations that were continually pressing upon youth, he became in his later years much interested in the parochial school movement in the Mennonite Church. He visited a number of such instituitons on different occasions and was impressed with the Christian influence which seemed to permeate them. He often expressed the desire that such a school might be started among the people of his own community, and stated that if he were a younger and abler man, he would be more active in promoting such a venture.

He was active in Sunday-school work as a young man, serving a number of years as superintendent. In 1910 he was ordained deacon, which office he faithfully filled as long as health permitted.

Besides being zealous in carrying on his local responsibilities, he was actively interested in the work of the church at large and visited many of the congregations in the United States and Canada. In World War I he spent a great deal of his time in the interests of young men of draft age. He was responsible for the release from camp on farm furloughs of several groups of young men from different camps, and also made a trip to several southern camps in the interests of young men who were being persecuted because of their nonresistant belief.

He was an active worker in the church conferences, and seldom missed a session of his district conference or the General Conference. He served as treasurer of General Conference for twenty years, of the Peace Problems Committee for fifteen years, and of the district conference for thirteen years.

In all his labors, he had a keen sense of responsibility, pursuing them energetically and zealously. He was permitted to be moderately active until the last few weeks of his life. The end came while General Conference was in session at Goshen, Indiana. He had told others who were planning to go that he had also planned to attend, but God seems to have planned otherwise.

He will be remembered by his family, neighbors, and friends for his kind helpfulness and his unwavering loyalty to Christ and the Church.

John W. Weaver, 1870–1944

By Ira D. Landis

Of the three brothers who came from Lampeter to Weaverland in 1723, Henry Weber, who built on the Blue Ball Run a mile west of the church, was John W. Weaver's ancestor. The line came down through Christian, Peter, Isaac, and Isaac. Michael Witwer, the first deacon in Weaverland, and his son Daniel, an early minister here, were ancestors of Catherine Witwer, the mother. He was born into this home, two miles east of Union Grove, on July 4, 1870. He, the ninth of eleven children (all boys but two), helped his mother with the housework. His father was a Christian miller who taught his family to love the Bible. Bro. John's Uncle George was bishop in the Weaverland-Groffdale District from 1854 to 1883. This family had four preachers, one of whom was Benjamin, bishop in the same district from 1902 to 1928.

John, who was always modest, accepted the faith of his fathers and from the start was an example to all. He was baptized by Jonas Martin in 1888. At that time it was rare for single men to be found in the church. When the fifty-fifty split in the Weaverland Circuit occurred in 1893, his home remained with the original church.

He was married on Nov. 15, 1891 to Anna, daughter of David and Elizabeth Martin Nolt. They started housekeeping at Union Grove, living at three different places. From 1916 to 1923, when their five children were growing up, they lived on the farm near town, where David now lives. In 1931, they purchased the S. H. Musselman home near Blue Ball and moved here for the rest of his pilgrimage.

To pay his way he, as a young man, chose the country saddler shop. On a trip to Lancaster in 1895 he purchased six copies of "Conversation on Saving Faith" and six old hymnbooks for resale. By 1897 he was assured that he would have a permanent side line in selling books.

In 1897, he was elected a member of the Mennonite Book and Tract Society, which was organized in 1892. He served as assistant tract editor with A. D. Wenger, M. S. Steiner, E. J. Berkey, and Daniel Kauffman. In a special meeting of this society at Elida, Ohio, May 20, 1899, John W. was elected secretary-treasurer, replacing J. A. Ressler, who was sent to India.

In 1899, "One Hundred Lessons in Bible Study," by Daniel Kauffman; in 1902, L. J. Heatwole's booklet on baptism; and in 1903, the life of J. S. Coffman by M. S. Steiner were published by the society at Spring Grove (now Union Grove), Pa. The family, however, claims that none were published here, for he never had a printery until he went to Lancaster.

Where Weaver's Bookstore Began

In 1905, when our publishing interests were moved to Scottdale, he was asked to become manager, but God had a service for him among his own people. In 1915, he was coauthor of a book on "The Ministry." For years he was an associate editor of the Gospel Herald, contributing some articles. He published a few tracts, among them "A Letter to Young Church Members," and "A Message to Young People—I Cor. 7:36." He was coauthor in 1940 of "Talks with Young People." His best-known work in the east was a yearly calendar and directory of the three eastern conferences (vest-pocket size). This he published for forty years.

Moving into Union Grove in 1923 he returned to the saddlery and book business. He made a trip to Aurand's at Harrisburg, Pa., where he bought shelf after shelf of second hand books. Now for the first time he entered the secondhand field, and the store enlarged immediately. About the year 1925, he took over the business at Vine Street which had been started by D. Stoner Krady two years earlier. Both stores were sold to the Mennonite Publishing House in 1927, but he continued to manage them until 1942. Until his passing, he managed the large home store, which he moved to his residence at Blue Ball in 1932. From the purchase of a few books in 1895 the business grew to a combined turnover in the two stores for the year ending April 1, 1942, of $35,108, with tens of thousands of volumes on hand. This shows in part his vision which was still enlarging after nearly fifty years. These were the first branch bookstores of the Publishing House.

As one who knew books, he directed the thought life of many a young minister by selecting his first library for him. As chairman of the Conference Library Committee, he selected books for Sunday-school libraries from Franconia to western Ohio. He who guides the reading of a church has much to do with the future thinking of the church. Here, generally, he was conservative and safe, and thus decidedly impressed the church.

From the start his bookstore was a missionary depot. By sales and chats on weekdays, especially in later years, the appeal was with no uncertain sound. But on Sundays and in the evenings he had a more aggressive program. After availing himself of Sunday-school privileges at Weaverland for four years, where his brother Benjamin was one of the superintendents, he and M. G. Weaver opened the first school at Lichty, his home church, one of the Weaverland Circuit, in the spring of 1897. He believed that the Great Commission began first at home.

In 1907, the Weaverland Missions Committee was organized in his home district, where his brother Benjamin was now bishop. He was the first secretary and fieldman on their missionary horizon. The most monumental work came at Diamond Rock, according to a history by C. Z. Martin on this abandoned church in Chester County. He nursed this work until the Frazer Meetinghouse was built in 1917-1918.

On Aug. 19, 1909, he was ordained to the ministry at Weaverland by his brother Benjamin. That fall he was called to Red Well for revival meetings, and there were seventeen confessions. This put him into the forefront of home missions.

He and his brother Benjamin became interested in orphan children, and they prevailed upon John H. Mellinger to call a meeting in Lancaster. As a result, the Millersville Children's Home was opened in 1911. He served as a trustee until the Eastern Board was organized.

"When the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities was organized in 1915, he was a charter member. As soon as they engaged a field worker, he was naturally appointed. In those years when many mission stations were opened he was the prime mover. In 1923, he envisioned and opened the work at Oak Shade. In 1926, he opened the work at Cocalico, and at first had the pastoral oversight there. In 1929, he opened the work with the Cocalico brethren at Pleasant Retreat. In 1929, he held services at Rawlinsville, which developed into a promising work. In 1930, he opened the work at Sunnyside, down by the riverside in the old dance hall. In 1931, in the woods at Cornwall, he opened that monumental work. Often did he drive there on Sunday afternoons, a fifty-mile round trip."—March "Missionary Messenger."

From 1924 to 1927 he was assistant editor of the "Missionary Messenger." He was field worker until 1935, always alert and open to call, regardless of when or where. He was a tract editor for the Board from 1925 to 1931. He resigned as a member of the Board in 1941, but was intensely interested to the last.

As a missionary in his own home, he and his faithful companion, still living, developed a future minister, David N., to carry on in the home district, the wife of another, Banks Weaver of Lost Creek, Juniata County, and some active Sunday-school workers.

His evangelistic success at Red Well put him into the evangelistic field permanently. He was of that rare type that wears well, and he frequently said, "I would rather wear out than rust out." So he went to his work and so he preached. His message struck the heartstrings; his tone was appealing; his speech rolled rapidly over his lips with a progressive sequence of thought. It was always couched deeply in Scripture, which he quoted freely and exactly. Except at funerals (to save time) he always gave the exact location of his scripture quotations. For the aid of his memory he would group a few "3:16's" or couplets, such as Jno. 14:15 and Jno. 15:14, Ps. 32:1 and Prov. 28:13, which he always gave together.

As evangelist, he was called throughout this conference and beyond, at a time when revival meetings were almost a new thing in the church. This conference accepted this means of edification and multiplication in 1905. The Lord decidedly blessed his meetings. Among his larger classes of converts were the following: seventy-one at Elizabethtown in 1917, sixty-nine at New Danville in 1915, fifty-one at Blooming Glen in 1914, and thirty-seven at Landis Valley in 1917.

His evangelistic effort came almost to a close in the fall of 1926 when he fell over in the pulpit at East Petersburg. For the next sixteen years he conducted but five such meetings, all in the Groffdale-Weaverland District. In 1942 he was called to a prayer meeting at Red Well, where he had held his first series of meetings thirty-three years before. Here he helped to push a car out of the mud, which started his last illness of two years' duration, ending with his eternal call during his natural sleep in the early morning of Feb. 18, 1944.

He was a man of conviction but was willing to wait upon the Lord. In 1894, at the age of twenty-four years, he passed through the lot for the ministry with Samuel B. Witmer. He was in the class with Benjamin Weaver in 1899, with I. B. Good in 1903, and with Samuel D. Martin (for the deacon office) in 1906. In 1909, fifteen years after the first time he passed through the lot, he was ordained. Meanwhile, he was busy for his Lord. He felt that his work was here, and he was certain that the Lord knew where to find him when the time came. Years afterward, he could understand why the others were chosen instead of him. Even though he believed that his work was not that of a bishop, yet, being a firm believer in the lot, he went through with Noah Mack, John Souder, and J. Paul Graybill.

So he preached and so he lived, saving his entire family for the Lord and the church, helping to increase the home district from about 550 to 1040 members, serving as one of the pastors who guided them over the transition period of the last forty years, aiding in the enlarging of our missionary horizon and the establishment of the church at home, being interested in everything that was for the good of the church if properly safeguarded, respecting both our heritage and our hope. —Condensed from Christian Monitor.

answers. Some faithful parents gave months and years of loving, faithful service to develop such a life. Some ministers and other church workers gave willingly and freely so that they might be nurtured and trained for the work of the Lord. It is much like the life of the great apostle to the Gentiles. The one who was once Saul of Tarsus was helped by God through His faithful workers to become the great missionary and apostle Paul. Only once do we hear of Ananias of Damascus, but surely he rendered a large service to the church and the world when he met Saul and with God's help started him out on his great service for the Lord.

Let none of us think that our place of service is of no importance or that our efforts are of no avail, even though our life is lived in a very quiet, unnoticed place. Someone has well said, "You can do a lot of good in the world if you do not care who gets the honor." We are not in this world to be served; we are not here to secure honor for ourselves. We want our service to be to those about us and the honor to be the Lord's.

As the Mennonite Church has been reaching outside of its local congregations to give larger service and witness to the world, it was and is made possible by the many who are giving their service in our local churches.

At this time of great need in the world, as our eyes are open to these large opportunities and we hear the call, "Come over, and help us," may we in our local churches see our opportunity to give our service to this great a need. We will know that the proportion of the success of meeting the world's needs today comes back to the support of the local congregations. The cause will fail if our homes fail. Where will the Lord find the folks to call if the churches fail to nurture those who come to Christ?

Today the church has many local pastors who are giving themselves, their talents, their time, their offering to promote the work of the Lord.

May we in our local congregations be faithful to the great opportunities that we have in supporting the work of the Lord by prayer, means, and personal work of witnessing for Christ unto the ends of the world.

A PRAYER

These are the things, I ask, O God:
That you might guide my mind and soul
To reach a high and holy goal;
That you might guide my hands and feet
The better life's grave tasks to meet;
That you might aid my ears and eyes
To see the good and hear the wise;
That you might teach my erring tongue
How best your praises may be sung;
That you inspire my lips to speak
Kind words to all I chance to meet;
That you might fill the human heart
With fellowship, that it impart
The love and truth we need to plan
For peace on earth, goodwill toward man.
And now, our Father, if you please
To grant this prayer, for man oft sees
But his own wish in each request,
I close my day and count me blest. Amen.
